Subject: Settlement

I don't see how the proposed settlement with MS is in the best interest of consumers. First how can a company that was found guilty by the court has so much to say in what their punishment should or will be. I think the DOJ is very weak when it comes to punishing those with lots of money. I think the court should have said "you broke the law, this is your punishment". That is the way it work for everyone else. We can no longer trust the DOJ to bring those to justice who have been proven they broke the law.

From every effort so far by the DOJ to rein in MS has fail and this joke of a settlement will fail also because it does nothing.

As a poor Black man in America I am shocked that they are letting MS off so easy, if it had be me I would already serving time in jail.

So much for justice
